The Farmer's Signs of Rain.

The farmer scans the western sky
And tells his pretty daughter,
The hay must all be in to night;
The sun is drawing water.

If a bright rainbow spans the cloud
That comes at early morning,
A storm is near, and sailors are
Admonished to take warning.

A little circle round the moon
Makes sure a change of weather,
So biddly patiently awaits
Each pretty, shining feather.

The maple leaves with dainty grace
Reveal their silver lining;
The sun retreats behind the clouds
Just at the day's declining.

The horses gallop round the fields
With muzzles and tails a flying;
And heads erect, with answering neigh,
To distant meads replying.

The robins sharply chirp at eve,
While distant vespers ring;
Seem strangely near and clear and sweet,
Like angel voices singing.

Great beads stand on the silver cup
Filled at the flowing fountain,
And angry clouds hang low and dark
Against the distant mountain.

St. Chanticleer crows loud at night;
The tree toad croaks and mutters;
Bobwhite his prophetic of rain
In plaintive measure utters.

And grandpa says his "rheumatiz"
Was never quite so trying,
And every "toe corn," aching, sets
His tortured nerves a flying.

And yet the weather prophets say
That, taking things together,
The very best known signs will fall
Somewhere in driest weather.

A CURE FOR CANCER.

California Physician Declares the X Ray Is a Sure Remedy.

Much interest has been aroused by the declaration of Dr. J. M. Selfridge of Oakland, Cal., that cancer can be cured by means of the X ray.

Dr. Selfridge, who says he has effected several cures, declares the treatment is simple and painless. He has used it on himself with highly satisfactory results. He said in a recent interview: "When the X ray was discovered, I was naturally interested from a purely scientific standpoint. Later I was doubly interested to learn that several eminent German scientists were experimenting on cancers with the X ray. At first they did not meet with much success, but when I realized that the green light had an effect on the growth I determined to experiment on my own account.

"I secured a machine, and, after placing a lead mask over my face, entirely covering it save where I was afflicted, I began systematic treatment. I found relief from the beginning. Now I am thoroughly cured.

"My theory is that the X ray kills the molecules which constitute the primal cells where life actually begins. It frequently takes thousands of these molecules to make a single cell of the tissue. The deterioration or decay of these molecules, I judge, may cause cancer. It probably does.

"The X ray has the effect of drying up these atoms and in time prevents the spread of cancer. Ultimately it kills the disease. I am positive when I say the X ray can cure cancer."

Sugar by Electricity.

A means for the extraction of different sugars by electrolysis has been recently tested on a commercial basis, and it is believed the process will open up a new department in sugar manufacture, says a British scientist. The method employed consists in the use of metallic plates as electrodes in connection with a wood vat divided into three compartments. The saccharine juice is placed in the central division, those at the two ends being filled with pure water. On the passage of the electric current the albuminoids and other substances in the juice coagulate and are precipitated. The salts are decomposed, and the juice becomes limpid and colorless, the lime and magnesia settling at the bottom. The soda, potassa and ammonia are drawn to the end vats.

FARMER WILSON'S WAY.

Unique Scheme For Smashing the Sugar Trust.

Good old Farmer Wilson, the Secretary of Agriculture, says the Chicago Journal, bears to the nation's eager ears the cheering tidings that the sugar trust is about to be smashed and ruined. How is this much desired result to be produced? Why, by the extension of the beet sugar industry. "The trust," says Mr. Wilson, "will vanish then, for the reason that it refines imported brown sugar, while all the American factories will furnish the finished product and place it in entire readiness for sale on the markets."

As the American Sugar Refining Company owns all the beet sugar factories in the country and will own all that may hereafter be built, it is evident that Farmer Wilson should stick to his weevils and leave the field of financial and economic speculation to Brother Gage.

The Sprague Publishing Company, Detroit, Michigan, publishers of "The American Boy," have filed a formal request with the management of the St. Louis Exposition that a boys' building be made one of the features of the World's Expositions for 1903.

In general, the plan is to have a building that shall accommodate exhibits of boy invention and enterprise, and shall have an assembly hall in which there may be a boys' congress, conventions of men and women workers in behalf of boys, and meeting of associations of amateurs, state and national. The project is a unique one and, if carried through, will add greatly to the popular interest in the Exposition.

The body of every spider contains four little masses, pierced with a multitude of holes (imperceptible to the naked eye), each hole permitting the passage of a single thread. All the threads, to the amount of 1,000 to each mass, join together when they come out and make the single thread with which the spider spins its web, so that what we call a spider's thread consists of more than 4,000 threads united.—Nature.

For the K. T. conclave the C. and O. will sell round trip tickets, Mayville to Louisville, at rate of one fare, $1.35. Tickets on sale August 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th. Return limit Sept. 2nd, with privilege of extension to Sept. 16th. Apply to W. W. Wilcox, agent, Mayville, Ky.

Surgery has reached a point at which almost any marvel may be expected, but it has remained for a Russian surgeon to attempt and succeed in performing an operation hitherto regarded as flatly impossible. He has repaired the great femoral artery—has spliced on to it an artificial length, just as a plumber might solder a piece of leaden pipe to a brass one.

Eminent physicians prescribe olives largely for all sorts of nervous diseases, for indigestion and gastritis. They warn only against poor olives, which are far from healthful. A perfect olive is of a yellowish green tinge, hard, and when bitten the mouthful is entire, not mushy or spongy. The stone should have a pinkish color, and the smell ought to be fresh and agreeable, says Good Housekeeping.

Among the treasures of a Swiss museum, inserted in the top of an old fashioned pencil case, is the thinnest watch ever constructed. It is only three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter, and its little dial not only indicates hours, minutes and seconds, but also the day of the month. So perfectly formed is this lilliputian watch that it keeps excellent time and is a marvelous piece of mechanical workmanship.

A group of pretty flowering plants that deserve greater attention than they receive are the double flowered ivy-leaved geraniums. Few plants compare with them for balconies or window boxes or to hang down from stakings in the conservatory or from baskets. The foliage alone is handsome, while the flowers which are produced so freely right through the summer are both bright and lasting. They look magnificent when trained along trellis work in sunny positions.

If you want to have a good complexion, avoid greasy foods, cakes, pastry and sweets, as well as all lightly seasoned dishes. Don't eat between meals. Eat plenty of fruit, fresh and stewed, and green vegetables, underdone beef and mutton, white fish and milk puddings. Give up strong tea and coffee, and if you find that any special food disagrees with you give it up at once. The stomach quickly reacts on the skin and takes its revenge by giving it a muddy look.

A meteor, one of three which Prof. H. A. Howe, of Denver University, says fell from the planet Mars last December, was discovered last week in Platte canyon about 40 miles from Denver, Col. A ranchman near Shawnee lodge in the canyon saw the meteor fall and guided Mr. French, of the Denver Chamber of Commerce, and S. P. Beading, of the University of Nebraska, to the spot. The meteor, a tremendously heavy body, buried itself in the side of the canyon. It will be photographed and removed.

One of the most curious mines that is worked is in Tongkin, China, where, in a sand formation, at a depth of from 14 to 20 feet, there is a deposit of the stems of trees. The Chinese work this mine for the timber, which is found in good condition, and is used in making coffins, troughs and for carving and other purposes. The stems are about three feet in diameter and 45 feet in length, and apparently belong to fir trees which were buried thousands of years ago by an earth quake or other similar convulsion.—Detroit Free Press.

Excelsior, which is an American invention, is made of bass wood and poplar. The logs are sawed into 18-inch lengths and split into halves. A series of knife points run down the face of the block, cutting into the wood in parallel lines that are spaced according to the width of the fiber to be made. A following knife slices off the whole face of the block thus served. The fibers curl and commingle as the knife sets them free. An excelsior machine makes 200 to 300 strokes a minute, every stroke cutting off a tier of fibers across the face of the block.

Water boils at a temperature of 212 degrees, but having been brought to that temperature, it can not be made any hotter. The reason for this is not generally understood, and yet it is quite simple. Boiling is only another name for steaming, the agitation and bubbling being caused by the escape of the steam into which the heat has converted the particles of water. It is the escape of the steam that prevents the water from getting any hotter than 212 degrees, for it takes heat away with it, thus keeping the temperature from rising.

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not get up and raise his hand with the landlord and tell him to stop his damned old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish on one side and wades into some of the many dishes that do suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and, without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grand stand play of their supreme assiduity and hasten over to stop their paper.—Falls City (Nebr.) Journal.

The largest peach tree in the United States, if not in the world, stands in an orchard in Kent county, Maryland. It is about the size of an ordinary kerosene barrel, measuring 78 inches around at the base, or nearly 26 inches through. One foot from the ground it is 58 inches around, and at two feet it is 56 inches. The croch is 56 inches, while the four primary limbs are from 25 to 32 inches in circumference. There is also one secondary limb as large as a ten-year-old tree. This mammoth specimen is 28 years old, and has never missed a crop. It frequently overbears, and then the wood breaks badly, for it is very brittle. The big tree is one of the survivors of a large orchard planted at the same time, some trees of which measure four or five feet in circumference.

It may not be generally known that skim milk or buttermilk readily mixes with kerosene, forming an emulsion which destroys insects without danger or injury to animals or plants on which they might be, that might result from the use of pure oil and water, says the American Cultivator. We first learned of this from using this mixture for the scale insect, or mite, which causes scaly legs on fowls. We found that one or two dippings or washings with it would cure the worst case of scaly legs and leave the skin as smooth as when first hatched. We never had occasion to try it for lousy animals, for we never had one, but we do not hesitate to recommend it, and we have lately seen its use advised for ticks on sheep, using a gill of kerosene to one gallon of milk. We did not make our mixture so strong of kerosene as that, but perhaps the larger tick may need a stronger application than an insect so small as to be scarcely visible to the naked eye.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Items of Interest Contributed by Our Country Correspondents.

FERN LEAF, Aug. 23rd.—Miss Alice Dorsey, of Mayville, has returned home after visiting friends here.

Mrs. Ida Wood, of Ironton, is visiting friends here and at Germantown.

Mrs. Talbot and daughter, of Paris, have returned home after visiting the family of S. M. Worthington.

Messrs. Lucien Norris and Harry Calvert attended the Ripley fair Thursday.

Mrs. J. C. Everett and sons, of Mayville, are visiting Mr. Daniel Norris and family and other relatives.

The refreshing showers which were so greatly needed are very beneficial to the crops.

The ice cream social given by the Fern Leaf Juvenile Missionary Society at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Asbury last week was largely attended, and the little Misses who waited in the dining room with their dainty little caps and aprons did all in their power to have the guests spend a pleasant time.

ORANGEBURG, Aug. 24th.—Ed. and Lem Stevens are at Scotoville, O., having accepted positions on an electric railway, now under process of construction.

"Soldier" Beckett returned home for a short visit Saturday after a six week's tour with a portable engine, which makes a specialty of threshing during the harvest season.

Mrs. Ab. Bramel was very sick a few days last week. Her condition was so serious that relatives were called to the house post haste. But she took a turn for the better, and is now, to the great joy of her many friends, able to be up and around again.

George Sedden, merchant, is doing his part to improve the "burg" by the completion of a first-class cement cistern, and filling up his yard with the debris in regular landscape style.

Charles Stevens, late of the southwestern Illinois swamp country, who, with his wife, is visiting the old homestead, reports that he gained fifteen pounds in three weeks since his arrival here, and his malaria has about left him. Orangeburg always was noted as a first-class health resort, our sulphur spring furnishing an abundance of health-giving water, and the quiet restful days and nights making invalidism the exception rather than the rule.

Robert Roe returned to Cincinnati last week after a month's visit to friends and relatives here. He made many improvements on his mother's house while here, and presented his sister, Fannie Ossa Roe, with an organ, on which she is now taking lessons, desiring to become a music teacher.

In bygone days, not so very long ago, either, there was a very popular song among the theatrical companies entitled, "The Babies On Our Block." This song brings to mind the babies on adjacent blocks in the "burg." George Sedden's bright intelligent seven-months-old girl, Leona Lovell, who notices everything and is always in a laughing, jumping, crowing humor, and Marna Collis' bouncing baby boy, who is away above the average in beauty of form and feature and very intelligent and possessed of vocal abilities of a high order and key. All in all they are a pair of little babies so sweet and fair beyond compare. If a few more such come to the "burg," I know we'll just have to have a baby show—and win everything in sight.

It has been clearly demonstrated that the English sparrows read the BULLETIN, or else have some one to read it for them, as an occurrence here very recently would seem to substantiate. Several weeks ago an article, giving these poor unwilling emigrants from the banks of Yarrow, England, a roast was printed in the above named journal of civilization. Their destructive practices, such as building huge nests of straw and paper in chimneys and interstices of the weather boarding, picking the mortar out of stone chimneys and rendering them liable to collapse, fighting and running away the native birds &c., &c., and all persons advised to trap, shoot and poison them. In a few days after the appearance of the article, they were all gone and it is a singular fact that there is not one to be seen here in the "burg" where formerly there were scores.

Work of Slaughter.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]

In the large slaughter houses in Chicago and elsewhere cattle are killed, skinned, cut up and hung in the cooling room in 39 minutes, and are handled by 20 men during that time. Hogs are killed at the rate of 550 an hour. They are handled by 125 men in 32 minutes. Sheep are killed at the rate of 620 an hour, the slaughtering and dressing occupying about 34 minutes. Each man has one particular thing to do to each animal, generally very little, and as soon as it is done he passes on to another animal. The work in consequence goes on like clockwork.

TRIUMPH OF ELECTRICITY.

A New Light, the Cost of Which Is About One Fourth Less Than the Incandescent.

[Exchange.]

A new form of electric light is on the point of coming into use, which promises to reduce very greatly the cost of electric illumination. It is the invention of a scientist of Göttingen, Dr. Walter Nernst, and it utilizes a glowbody, instead of a carbon filament, a substance that comes under the head of what experts in such matters call a second class conductor—that is to say, a material which is a non-conductor at ordinary temperatures, but a good conductor of electricity when raised to a high heat.

This substance is a mixture of oxides of the rare metals thorium, cerium and yttrium. It is formed into the shape of a pencil, and the lamp of which it becomes a part is heated by a little heater-coil placed in close proximity to the pencil. In this way the pencil's temperature is raised to the requisite point, when it becomes brilliantly incandescent. A simple automatic means is supplied for cutting off the current of the heater-coil after the lamp is started, from which time on its own glow suffices to keep the pencil hot.

This kind of lamp gives a light that is not yellow like that of the ordinary incandescent lamp, but pure white like that of an arc lamp. Its great advantage, however, is in point of economy, in which respect it beats the incandescent lamp now in use four to one.

FIFTEEN YEARS

Diphtheria Germs Lurked in a Child's Toys and May Now Cause Death of Several.

Mt. VERNON, O., Aug. 22.—Germs that have lurked for fifteen years in a child's toys may probably cause the death of two children at the home of Chas. Hutton, in this city. Mrs. Hutton died about a week ago, and her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Keck, of Indiana, came to attend the funeral, bringing with her a small daughter. Yesterday this child and another child of Mrs. Hutton were taken dangerously ill, so that physicians were summoned. They pronounced the disease malignant diphtheria, and at once administered antitoxin.

There is not a case of diphtheria in the city, and the physicians were at a loss to account for its origin. But upon investigation they found that a child of Mr. and Mrs. Hutton had died fifteen years ago of diphtheria. During her illness she had played with an assortment of toys which, after her death, were gathered together by the father and stored in the garret of the home.

About a week ago the present victims found these toys, gathered them from their hiding place, and amused themselves with them. The physicians are certain that the germs have lingered about the toys all these years and have caused the present illness.

A VERY CURIOUS BIRD.

The One Young Mark Twain Sprung Upon the Scientists.

Mark Twain's father was an ornithologist. He had several friends who were also enthusiasts on the subject of birds. Whenever any one of them discovered a rare avis it was the custom to have a consultation. Mark had been a witness of several of these bird inquiries and had noted the delight the old men took in discussing a new found specimen. One day it occurred to him to provide the Hannibal ornithologists with a real circus in the form of a bird. He killed a crow and also a barnyard rooster. Plucking out the tail feathers of both the crow and the rooster, he substituted the rooster's tail feathers for those of the crow, producing a unique effect. When he had the specimen nicely prepared, he went to his father and, handing it to him, said:

"Here, father, is a very curious bird I shot. I thought you would be interested in it."

The old gentleman gazed upon the specimen with astonishment. That evening the ornithologists of Hannibal were assembled in Mr. Clemens' parlor. The rare specimen was put before them. The discussion was long and learned. The opinions expressed were various. One thought the bird was an offshoot of the bird of paradise family; others had equally ridiculous notions as to its ancestry. But there was one who refused to be swayed by the peculiarity of the bird's tail from the judgment that it was of the crow family.

"Why, just look here," he said, lifting the bird by its tail feathers. He got no further. The feathers came out. There was a quick closing of a door. Mr. Clemens started to leave the room.

"Gentlemen," he said, "please excuse me a few moments. I will see Samuel first and explain later."

Why We Bathe.

Professor Vivian Lewes, at the London institution, recently furnished the following answer to the question, "Why do we bathe?" Twenty-eight miles of sweat glands in our skin are discharging 20 ounces of water per day and leaving upon the outer surface of the skin a full ounce of solid matter. These are aided by the oil glands of the hair, which facilitate the adherence of external dirt. Hence the refreshing character of the morning bath and the necessity for grease absorbing alkalies in soap.

A horse hitched to a dray fell dead in front of Owens' hardware store at 10 this morning. It belonged to Mr. M. C. Hutchison, the grocer.

Three Views of Marriage.

When a modern maiden marries,
In delightful dream she carries;
As her fancy surely shifts
To the thought of wedding gifts,
Every friend who would be pleasant
"Must," she muses, "send a present:
All acquaintances must pay
Tax upon my marriage day.
Fans and furs and rare old lace,
Gold embellished dressing cases,
Rings and brooches, silver mugs,
Entree dishes, claret jugs—
Table will with these be laden
When I marry," gloats the maiden.

When a modern bachelor marries,
In his heart grim fear he carries;
"With," he thinks, "our income small
We don't want such gifts at all.
There's that grand piano—gracious!
That involves a house more spacious:
Then that dressing bag, alas!
That can only go first class!
Silver center dish and cup, too,
How can we such things live up to?
Every present of pretense
Means for me increased expense.
Would that I such gifts could ban
When I marry," thinks the man.

When a man and maiden marry,
Hearts of lead their friends all carry;
Custom, as they know, demands
Costly presents at their hands;
Ostentation, too, coerces,
So they empty out their purses,
Fearful lest their names be missed
From the often published list,
But in private, in a passion,
They denounce the sordid fashion,
Crying in most bitter strain:
"Only fancy, fleeced again!
Bah! 'Tis an event to dread!
When a man and maiden wed!"
—London Truth.

GIGANTIC PROFITS

To Be Divided Among Standard Oil Stockholders This Year.

[New York Journal.]

The Directors of the Standard Oil Company, at their meeting yesterday, declared a dividend of 8 per cent, $8 a share, on the common stock of the company. This dividend is payable on September 16th next.

The capitalization of the trust is about $100,000,000. The declaration of the dividend means the distribution of about $8,000,000 among the Standard Oil's stockholders.

This dividend is the third declared by the company during the calendar year.

The dividend for the first quarter this year, paid in March, 1901, was 20 per cent, $20,000,000.

The dividend for the second quarter, paid in June, 1901, was 12 per cent, $12,000,000.

The dividend for the third quarter, as has just been said, is 8 per cent, $8,000,000.

So the total dividend thus far this year is 40 per cent. on the $100,000,000 capitalization, or $40,000,000.

But because the poor trust declared a quarterly dividend of only 8 per cent. yesterday, its stock fell four points, to 76½. Last fall the price touched 83½.

Men in Wall street were telling each other yesterday that the great trust declared only an 8 per cent. dividend because the mosquitoes are so "bad."

The countrymen can not burn lamps when the light attracts millions of mosquitoes.

It was suspected in Wall street that, besides, the Standard Oil Trust was giving away a few hundred dollars' worth of oil in the attempt to destroy mosquitoes. Hence the comparatively low dividend.

But the days must grow longer and cold must kill the mosquitoes more surely than does crude petroleum. Wall street firmly believes that Standard Oil will declare a dividend for the final quarter of this year that will be no less than the dividend for the final quarter of last year. And then it was 10 per cent.

The trust established a new high record last year in piping profits to stockholders when it paid out 48 per cent. in all, about $48,000,000.

This year, so far, it has paid 40 per cent.

If this December's dividend is equal to last December's, 10 per cent, this year's profits will beat the former high record. They will be 50 per cent.

ONE BILLION

Is the Estimate Placed on John D. Rockefeller's Wealth.

New York, August 1.—A prominent financier of Wall street said to-day: "I am satisfied that the newspapers have underestimated the wealth of John D. Rockefeller. I have never seen a newspaper statement that approximated it. Instead of their figures, I should say Mr. Rockefeller is worth a little less than a thousand millions to-day."

The speaker gave a tabulated estimate of Rockefeller's wealth as follows:

Standard Oil stock	$300,000,000
United States Steel stock	75,000,000
Amalgamated Copper	50,000,000
American Sugar	20,000,000
Gas companies in Greater New York	85,000,000
Gas companies in other cities	50,000,000
Railway securities	200,000,000
Industrial and miscellaneous	150,000,000
Realty	15,000,000
Total	$945,000,000

Estimated on prices May last, during great stock boom, $1,050,000,000.

At a meeting of the Curriculum Committee last Saturday it was decided to advise against any change in the course of study in the lower grades of the public schools. This is a wise decision, and will materially assist the book dealers who are expected to provide the requisite supplies. More is dependent, after all, on the teachers than on the books, and we are glad to know that the vacation has been faithfully improved by many, if not all, of these.

A PROPHECY BEING FULFILLED.

"We are now beholding the fruition of possibilities which John Sherman recognized in the McKinley tariff," remarks the Boston Herald. "From his seat in the Senate he publicly warned the nation of them and earnestly entreated the manufacturers not to take unjust advantage of the power that the new tariff gave to them for oppressing the people. Sagacious as he was, he never dreamed of such gigantic combinations of capital and fictitious capital for extorting profits out of the American people as have been consummated within the last five years. It is full time to take away the abnormal, corrupting stimulus to these oppressive speculations."

The Tariff on Potatoes.

[Philadelphia Record.]

Our Irish friends intend to send over some of their surplus potatoes to make up for a deficient crop in this country. Under the beneficent Dingley tariff American consumers will pay on these potatoes a tax of 25 cents a bushel of sixty pounds. When the potato crop in this country is abundant there is a large surplus for export, and the tariff is of no use for protection. When the crop fails American farmers must pay the tax not only on the potatoes they consume on their tables, but on what they need for planting.

Republicanism.

[Cynthiana Democrat.]

In the Republican primary at Louisville Boss Sapp's henchmen mutilated and burned ballots, stole precincts, altered tally sheets, browbeat voters and withal behaved in such a thoroughly scandalous and disgraceful way that the election was called off, the nominee for Mayor, a respectable man, declined to accept the nomination and the duce generally was to pay. And yet Sapp and his admirers were the loudest in condemning Democratic primaries.

OFF FOR LOUISVILLE.

Sir Knights and Ladies of Maysville Commandery No. 10 Left This Morning To Attend Triennial Conclave.

Louisville is the mecca of the Knights Templars of the United States this week. The occasion is the triennial conclave of the Grand Commandery which will convene there to-morrow, and the Falls City will spend $100,000 entertaining her visitors. It is estimated that fully 20,000 Sir Knights will be seen in the grand parade. Maysville Commandery No. 10 left on the 8:50 C. and O. train this morning. Arrangements had been made for a vestibule coach and observation car, and these were attached to the 8:50 train. At Cincinnati the coaches will be transferred to the regular L. and N. train due at Louisville at 2:30 this afternoon. Miss Buelah Louise Pugh, the fair sponsor for Maysville Commandery, was escorted from Vanceburg this morning by Sir William Trout, Jr., Eminent Commander.

The following is a list of the Knights and ladies composing the party: Wm. Trouts, Jr., Miss Buelah Louise Pugh, F. O. Barkley, T. A. Keith and wife, J. D. Dye, D. C. Franklin, L. M. McCarthey, W. N. Kentucky Republicans.

[Washington Star.]

The Kentucky Republicans have finally succeeded in deposing that plucky postmistress from office. But it was not at all necessary for them to do this in order to firmly secure the contempt of the country. Kentucky Republicans have been weighed and found puerile.

Mr. Lee Wood, of Mt. Gilead, and Miss Mary Etna Calvert, of Orangeburg, eloped to West Union Saturday where they were married, returning home in the afternoon. They left home at 3 a. m., and coming to Maysville drove over from here in one of Parker's handsome turnouts.

They Struck it Rich.

It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising firm as J. Jas. Wood & Son secured the agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvelous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, and the demand for it is immense. They give free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, croup and all throat and lung troubles. A trial proves its merit. Price 50c. and $1.

Dr. A. N. Ellis, of this city, has a strong and suggestive letter in the last Lancet-Clinic (Cincinnati) on the much-mooted question of "overcrowding" in the medical profession. The statistics are instructive, and some of them startling. For example, every year sixteen hundred physicians die in the United States and six thousand medical graduates are sent out annually to supply the loss.

Suit has been commenced in the Bracken County courts to set aside the will of the late Hon. Thornton F. Marshall. The proceedings are instituted by Mr. Marshall's daughter, who has employed Judge Doniphan and Harland Cleveland to represent her. These attorneys will be aided by Hon. John B. Clark and others before the case is heard. The city of Augusta will be represented by prominent Maysville and Cincinnati attorneys.

CONVERSATION

Was overheard last Monday night as a man was passing the

5 and 10c. Store

Just as the town clock was striking fifteen minutes past 8. Everything was still as death. There was a mighty uproar in the tin department, when a tin cup raised shrieking, trembling and exclaiming that their kind was to be sold for 5c. Boastfully the table cloth was heard in a loud voice saying, I am 1½ yards wide and thirty-six inches long and of the finest grade and I am to be sold for only 15c. Carpet tacks were next heard from. There are 500 of us and our points are of sharpened steel and our heads can be hammered for only 5c. Rubber collars were heard from next, in a low voice saying, "You can launder me in a bowl with soap and water and I will go around your rubber neck for only 25 cents." Silver tea spoons were heard in a silver tongue, "There are only six of us, just one half dozen; we shine and shine beautiful to behold. We are guaranteed to last a lifetime. We are to be sacrificed for only 50c. There was a great uproar heard in rug, straw matting, china, glass, hosiery, linen and gents furnishing goods department. This man tip-toed away silently, but knowingly, that on account of space we could not tell you what they had to say, but the goods talk for themselves at the 5 and 10 cent store, 45 West Second St., Maysville, Ky.

The Residence of Mr. B. W. Tolle Destroyed at an Early Hour Sunday Morning.

Another disastrous fire, the second inside of six weeks, visited Aberdeen Sunday morning about 2 o'clock.

A handsome frame dwelling belonging to Mr. B. W. Tolle burned to the ground, with nearly all contents.

The family were awakened by the explosion of a can containing gasoline, and barely escaped with their lives.

The flames were enveloping their sleeping apartments when the explosion occurred. It is not known how the fire originated. Some damage was done to buildings situated nearby.

The house and its contents were partly insured.

BASE BALL.

The Y. M. C. A. Team Will Play the Manchester's To-morrow Afternoon at Sixth Ward Park.

The Y. M. C. A.'s defeated George Creekbaum's picked nine last Saturday afternoon at the Sixth ward ball park in easy fashion, the score being 16 to 1 "Billy" Jacobs, the farmer boy, was in the box for the former team, and he proved to be a wonder. He held his opponents down to four scattered hits.

To-morrow-afternoon the crack Manchester team will be here for a game, and it will no doubt be a lively contest, as they have recently defeated the West Union (Ohio) team. Jacobs and Dresel from Deutschland will probably be in the points for the locals. Let everybody go out and help the boys. The admission will be 15 cents, and everybody must show their ticket before the game is called, which will be at 2:15 p. m. Umpire, Smith.

No two of the flowers are alike. There are roses of all kinds, ferns, olive sticks and nearly every other flower that grows in the Holy Land. They are pressed and are attached to a handsomely lithographed card with the compliments of the Apollo Commandery on them.

AT "BEECHLAND."

Hospitable Home of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Noyes the Scene of a Happy Gathering Saturday.

The ancestral house and grounds of Mrs. James B. Noyes, known as "Beechland," one of the very attractive places of our picturesque suburbs, were thrown open to a party of the lineal descendants of the Hord family Saturday last.

Among those who enjoyed the great privilege of her well known hospitality to an elaborate luncheon were Mrs. William Winn, of Lexington, Mrs. Mary G. Clarke, Mrs. Jennie O. Clarke, Mrs. James Threlkeld, Sr., Mrs. James H. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Clarke of this city. The occasion was given to commemorate the birthday of Mr. George M. Hord, of Chicago, who has been here several months among kindred and friends, (who are many,) seeking both health and pleasure.

The day passed delightfully with all who were fortunate enough to be present with pleasant converse renewing their ties of affection and relationship, and recounting the many happy reminiscences of the past, as well as the varied shadows caused by the passing away of so many whose blood coursing their veins was the same as their own.

The Boy Who Turned Out Bad.
The boy who turned out bad was raised by parents good and true; They pondered what was best for him and what they ought to do, And they at last decided they would keep him home at night. So he could not take part in all the other boys' delights. They never let him play with boys who went in their bare feet; They kept him from the swimming hole and kept him off the street. He never had a single fight, and on All Hallow-e'en He with the other little boys was never, never seen. He never stole an apple from a neighbor's apple tree. Because his mother's eagle eye was on him constantly. He never saw a "show," because his parents always said They didn't want extravagance in Tommy to be bred. But when he grew up into years he sighed one day, "I see The very sweetest joys in life have been denied to me." And all the pent up spirit of the fellow broke and ran, And what is mischief in a boy is criminal in man. —Indianapolis Sun.

Good homes, in kind and competent Christian families, for needy children from twelve years to infancy. Country homes preferred. Address Kentucky Children's Home Society, Rev. R. E. O'Byrne, Superintendent, Newport, Ky.

Dr. A. H. Wall, on his recent trip to Lexington, had the misfortune to lose a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles, between Carlisle and the Lexington fair grounds.

Astounded the Editor.
Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well,—can eat anything. It's a great tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c. at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.
